

Instructions:

- Print off two copies of the main sheet. (page 1)
- Laminate one copy or put inside a plastic seal-top folder. This is your reference sheet – (OR you could always print a copy for each show on paper and just cross the scents through as you draw them)
- Take the second copy and cut it up into scent blocks.
- Put all of the cut up pieces into a little gift bag/box – this is your “bingo drum”!
- Print off the game cards – obviously add to them – I’ve started you off with eight. As long as the scents are all different on each card you shouldn’t have any probs!
- At your show, tell your guests you are going to play Scent Sampler Bingo!
- Each guest has a bingo card.
- Grab everyone’s attention and tell them that there is a small prize for the first to get three in a line either horizontally, vertically or diagonally. Perhaps give a wrapped votive or something similar to that guest who gets there first.
- Reach into your bag/box and draw out the individual ‘scents’ If the guest has that Fragrance on their sheet, they cross it through.
- As you draw the Scent out, then place it over your laminated copy so that you know that particular item has been called out and no-one is cheating!
- You could extend the game by going for a “full house” which would be the first person to fill their card! Perhaps have a larger gift for a full house – depends how much time you have. Only accept the first three in a row – then the next prize will be the full house!
- Hope this works for you!! It’s a great ice breaker!!

These instructions were written by “Kimbrit” in 2004. Updated by Jackie for 2007.